Celebrating 10 years of AIFEC

As I prepare to reflect on the past year, I can't help but be impacted by what is happening in the world right now. Despite the challenges we faced this year, starting with the school strikes in January and February, followed by the mandated shutdown due to COVID-19, I am so proud that we were able to deliver on our mission. Recognizing the power of music to create community, build confidence and manage anxiety, we responded quickly, transitioning into an online instruction model. I want to thank our instructors, who so creatively adapted our programs to meet the needs of our students, keeping them engaged and connected. I also want to thank YOU, our sponsors and partners; your ongoing support during these difficult times is sincerely appreciated.

Community is the key word in this report. As an organization that is deeply committed to building a direct connection between our artists and community members, we can proudly look back over the past decade and the milestones we have achieved. Over 5000 children have participated in our programs, AIFEC has expanded into 16 high-need schools and community centres, multiple new programs have been launched, and many exciting partnerships have formed. As we prepare to move back into our newly renovated home, "The Gasworks", we look forward with great anticipation to creating an empowering, educational and cultural environment for Hamilton's children, youth, families and the entire community in the downtown core. My thanks to our Board for guiding our mission, to our instructors for their commitment and passion, to our donors, supporters and friends for their ongoing contributions and to the entire HMC/AIFEC team for always staying positive in times of change and uncertainty.

- Astrid Hepner, Program Founder/CEO.

- Bob Miller, Chair.

Speaking on behalf of the members of the board of the Hamilton Music Collective, we would like to offer sincere thanks to our CEO, Astrid Hepner and the fine team she has assembled, for the excellent job they have done in successfully steering the organization through what has been a very challenging operating year. As you will note from the format of this report, "Community" is the theme throughout.

Over the past decade, the HMC has increasingly reached out and established solid working and collaborative relationships with a wide and varied group of organizations throughout the City of Hamilton. The Hamilton Chamber of Commerce clearly recognized this fact by honouring the HMC with the 2020 "Outstanding Business Achievement Award," in the non-profit category, for outstanding service to the community. From the recently expanded and beautifully restored "John & Ellie Voortman Charitable Foundation" owned, "The Gasworks" on Park Street North, in the very heart of the city, the HMC's burgeoning list of music initiatives will be delivered to all corners of Hamilton. To achieve and sustain this activity, there are ever-increasing costs. The deliverance of such cannot happen without a steady infusion of funding from our highly valued and growing list of generous sponsors, donors and benefactors.

We are so grateful!

Starting from a home office on the central Mountain and introducing "An Instrument For Every Child" as a Hamilton-Wentworth District School Board single school pilot project, the HMC is now delivering a wide range of exciting community-based music initiatives to the entire city! Despite the uncertainties associated with the COVID-19 pandemic, we look forward to 2020/2021 with hope and optimism.

“ Over 9000 children have participated in Hamilton Music Collective programs since 2009 and more than 5000 have been part of HMC's in-school AIFEC program. ”

Benefits of Music Education

Music education speeds the development of speech and reading skills, enhances focus and builds a sense of empathy for others. In addition, music lessons and playing an instrument give children a means to express themselves, which for many is key to emotional stability.

The AIFEC program addresses the continued erosion of music education with emphasis on inner-city schools where the daily challenges of families preclude the ability to provide music lessons. Yet, it is proven that an investment in music lessons is a powerful tool for advancing a child’s intellectual, social and creative potential.

The arts improve the quality of life for both people and communities, creating a powerful sense of inclusion, understanding and the opportunities for self-expression. For children in particular, they serve as a catalyst for development, improving intellectual, social and emotional skills, positive self-image and socialization abilities. Supporting the arts is an important part of building a vibrant, inclusive Hamilton.

- Matt Goodman, VP Grants & Community Initiatives, Hamilton Community Foundation

Teach children the beauty of music, and music will teach them the beauty of life.

- José Antonio Abreu, Founder of El Sistema

Students

Our instrumental classes are designed to inspire Hamilton's youth through access to music education, while reducing the economic burden for parents, schools, and communities who wish to offer students the skills and benefits that music education provides. These classes offer group instruction with a qualified music instructor in violin, piano, guitar/ukulele, trumpet, trombone, flute, or drums/percussion. Upon completion of our core program which concludes in grade 4, students are invited to join one of our free ensembles, continue to perform at our monthly open jam session, or audition for the Jambassadors program.

Our organization believes in cultivating avenues for success for the children who are the future of our city. Children become contributing members of the community through broad learning opportunities, and it is our goal to enable children through as many rewarding educational experiences as possible. By investing in success for children through learning, AIFEC delivers lasting impact, helping to create a vibrant community.

Community Support

“Every day when the children in the AIFEC program walk into their lesson, I see their eyes light up. Many of these children would not have the opportunity to participate in music lessons if it were not for this program. Not only do they provide high quality lessons, but they provide an experience that mirrors the Boys and Girls Club mission, vision and values. We saw this intensify when the pandemic was announced. They were the first to step up and offer virtual programs to our members, and even went as far as to deliver instruments to their students. We are incredibly grateful for the work AIFEC does both at the club and in the community.” - Glenn Harkness, Boys and Girls Club Executive Director

“We are proud to offer the AIFEC program to our students, as it provides a unique opportunity to support and enhance classroom learning through equitable access to instruments and lessons. For many of our students, musical literacy is a means to bridge the gap to other subjects and is a curriculum to student achievement and well-being. Every student has outstanding potential and each of them deserve the opportunity to fulfill that potential by having access to resources that allow them to express themselves in their own ways.” - Manny Figueiredo, HWDSB Exec. Director

“Having little (or no) musical talent, we have fortunately had lives filled with music over the years which has greatly enriched our lives. We treasure the musical talent that others possess and are pleased to support An Instrument for Every Child which nurtures and finds the talent that exists in our youth. Especially, at this difficult time, music is a marvelous tonic to soothe our stressful lives. We wish continued success to this outstanding contribution to our community.” - Marlies and Alan Clark, longtime AIFEC donors

“The cerebral and social benefits that music provides are well-known, and due to the unfortunate reduction of music programs in schools, kids in the very neighbourhoods that would benefit most have been hurt. Thank you the HMC for the opportunity to help rescue our kids.” - Marnie & Larry Paikin, longtime AIFEC donors
